

Parenting Skills

Desired Outcomes: We want our children safe, happy, successful, and capable. Here are the things all parents should help their children master:

Physically:

- Physical growth, healthy and strong (physical fitness)
- Good dietary habits
- Exercise habits that result in strength and endurance
- Cleanliness and personal hygiene
- Over-all sense of well-being/physical capability (physical self-confidence)
- Specific Talents (healthy, good use of leisure time)

Emotional:

- More positive (happy, optimistic, hopeful, kind, pleasant, loving etc.)
- Less Negative (depressed, discouraged, angry, miserable, inflexible etc.)

Socially:

- Cooperative
- Develop friendships (how make and loose friends)
- Problem Solve and Decision-Making
- Display leadership
- Follow other's leadership (teaming)

Mentally:

- Reason and problem solve
- Literacy skills
- Math and computational skills
- Display work ethics (Do your very best no matter the task)
- Life-long learners with positive attitude about learning

Morally:

- Display remorse
- Integrity and Fairness
- Honesty and Trustworthiness
- Compassion and a sense of concern for others
- Resilience and Diligence
- Sacrifice and Caring
- Self-Regulated sense of Responsibility
- Respect for Self and Others
- Citizenship (a working helping member of society)

